

Call for Composers: Transform Primary School Poetry into Music

Are you a composer with a passion for bringing words to life through music? We have an exciting opportunity for you!

About the Project:

The Voices of Children in Northern Ireland have exhibited a collection of heartfelt and imaginative poems. We are seeking talented composers to volunteer their skills and set these poems to music, creating a magical fusion of young creativity and musical artistry. The first ten compositions, based on poems written by students of Woodlawn Primary School, have been completed and are available here.

What We're Looking For:

- Passionate Composers: Whether you're a seasoned professional or an emerging talent, we welcome composers who are enthusiastic about working with children's poetry.
- Diverse Musical Styles: All musical genres are welcome. We encourage a variety of styles to reflect the diverse voices and themes of the poems.
- Collaborative Spirit: Composers could be open to working closely with educators and possibly even the young poets themselves to ensure the music truly captures the essence of the poems.

Why Volunteer?

- Inspire Young Minds: Your music will help children see their words come to life, fostering a love for both literature and music.
- Community Engagement: This is a chance to contribute to the cultural richness of Carrickfergus and support local education.
- Creative Fulfilment: This project offers a unique creative challenge and the opportunity to explore new artistic horizons.

How to Get Involved:

1. Submit Your Interest: Send an email to info@sillysavvystudio.com with a brief introduction, a sample of your work, and why you're interested in this project.
2. Create and Collaborate: Once matched, you'll work on setting the assigned poem(s) to music, with opportunities to collaborate with teachers and students.
